

United States Department of the Interior

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE
Denver Service Center
12795 W. Alameda Parkway
P.O. Box 25287
Lakewood, Colorado 80225-0287

SEKI-2000-516
1443PX2000-99-054

SEP 29 2000

Environmental Technical Services, Inc.
124 Washington Avenue, Suite A
Richmond, CA 94801
Attn: Kody Khodayari

Dear Kody:

The National Park Service/Denver Service Center commends your outstanding effort in providing the Government with expert Industrial Hygienist Services at Sequoia National Park, California.

Your technical expertise in hazardous material inspection and monitoring helped the Government provide safeguards for Park visitors, employees, and abatement workers. The knowledge you displayed of all pending and existing state and federal regulations and codes during the first phase of the Giant Forest Demolition Project (SEKI Pkg. 200"M") convinced our field staff that your abilities and professional integrity was needed on future phases. Based upon these recommendations, the National Park Services contracted with you to provide planning, design and inspection services on the following demolition phase (SEKI Pkg. 200"O"). This phase of demolition went smoothly since you were responsible for methods of discovery survey, design of the removal sequence, preparation of the removal specifications, and monitoring abatement during demolition. Your knowledge and ability to detail all required hazardous material abatement saved the Government costs associated with over-runs and construction change orders. The 95% discovery of hazardous materials during planning and design was far superior to previous consultants we have contracted with.

The National Park Service/Denver Service Center is very satisfied with your knowledge and abilities concerning abatement procedures, and would not hesitate to contract your service services in the future. We would highly recommend you as an Industrial Hygienist to any agency responsible for Hazardous Materials Abatement.

Sincerely,

Raymond K. Todd
Project Manager/Contracting Officer's Representative